GUC is a separately-chartered entity, operated as a public service with the mission of providing utilities in a business-like manner at a reasonable cost.

GUC is a not-for-profit, publicly owned utility chartered by the State of North Carolina. Our Charter provides that Greenville Utilities Commission has responsibility for the entire supervision and control of the management, operation, maintenance, improvement, and extension of the public utilities both in the City and outside the corporate limits, and is empowered to fix uniform rates for all services rendered.

We work closely with the City of Greenville for the betterment of our community, but we are not a department of the City.

Over the years, regulatory requirements and economies of scale have guided GUC more and more in a regional direction. Currently, GUC has nearly 66,000 electric connections, with 31% located outside the City limits. More than 28% of natural gas customers and 15% of water customers also live outside City limits.

We have wholesale water contracts with Farmville, Greene County, Winterville, Bethel, and Stokes Regional Water Corporation; and we provide wholesale sewer services to Grimesland and Bethel, and natural gas to Winterville, Simpson and Ayden.

Because of this regional shift, two of GUC's eight Board members are now nominated by the County Commissioners.

Other communities rely on partnerships with us as a cost-effective option. As a result, GUC is playing a critical role in providing regional solutions to utility challenges in Eastern North Carolina.

As your hometown utility provider, we take pride in delivering safe, reliable services; maintaining stable, competitive rates; and supporting the economic growth of Greenville-Pitt County. We appreciate your continued support.
