

Questions and Answers

For the Installation of the 230kV POD to Bells Fork 115kV Transmission Line

#16-54

It is our understanding that Greenville Utilities will perform all distribution work and supply all materials and the contractor is only to lay it out and leave for Greenville Utilities?

a. Affirmative. This was confirmed with Jeff Byrd (GUC) during the pre-bid conference.

Will Greenville Utilities be providing dollar amounts for the owner furnished material and if so does the contractor have to bond the owner furnished materials?

This is up to GUC. This project is intended to be a Labor and Equipment contract only. The purpose of providing material pricing is to allow the Contractor to take ownership of the material once it is issued to them for construction. If the material is damaged or misplaced by the Contractor, this provides an agreed pricing structure to be deducted from the Contractor's retainage. If GUC does not have material pricing to provide, then the answer will be NO.

We will set up a special project for materials for outrigging just as a tracking mechanism. It would be the intent to return most of that material back to inventory once we have completed the distribution work. I am assuming the materials that are being requested would be standard cross arms, insulators, and hardware.